

YOUR PRIVACY

For a good treatment it is necessary that Patricia van Houten, as your therapist, creates a file. This is a statutory duty imposed on her as a therapist by the Medical Treatment Contracts Act (WGBO).

Your file contains notes about your state of health, as well as information about the tests and proposed treatments performed by your therapist. In addition, the file contains information that is necessary for your treatment.

Your therapist does her best to ensure your privacy. This means, among other things, that she:

- Handles your personal and your medical data carefully;
- Ensures that unauthorized persons do not have access to your data.

As your attending therapist, Patricia van Houten has sole access to the data in your file. With regard to this information, she also has a legal duty of confidentiality (professional secrecy). The data from your file can be used for the following purposes:

- To inform other health care providers; for example when the therapy is completed, your file is handed over at your request, or when you refer to another therapist. This only happens at your request and with your explicit permission;
- For use for observation by a fellow Mesologist, during your therapist's absence. These observer (s) are also covered by professional secrecy and use the same rules regarding your privacy;
- For the anonymised use during peer review;
- Some of the data from your file is used for the financial administration, to be able to produce an invoice.

To be allowed to hand over medical information to your general practitioner and / or other therapists / therapists you will be asked for permission separately. If your therapist wants to use your data for another reason, prior to this she will explicitly ask you for permission to do so.

The data in a client file is kept for 15 years, as required by the aforementioned law on the medical treatment agreement.

PRIVACY in relation to your INVOICE

The invoice, which you will receive following your appointment, contains details that are required by health insurers, so that you can declare this bill to your health insurer. These details include your:

- Name, address and place of residence;
- Date of birth;
- Date of treatment;
- Invoice number;
- A brief description of the treatment;
- The costs of the consultation.

EXPLANATION

By means of this form you are explicitly informed which data your therapist stores in your client file and what your therapist does with this data.

By signing this explanation, you give your therapist (Patricia van Houten, Mesoloog D.M.) permission to store your data in order to be able to implement the requested support, as well as to comply with legal obligations.

You can withdraw this permission at any time.
